MEDIA ADVISORY

News Conference Scheduled to Launch Telephone Quitline to Help Tobacco Users Quit

BISMARCK, N.D. – The North Dakota Department of Health will announce on Monday the launching of the new North Dakota Tobacco Quitline, a free telephone service aimed at helping North Dakota tobacco users quit using tobacco.

A press conference will be held at 11:30 a.m. in the Peace Garden Room on the main floor of the State Capitol Building.

Individuals expected to make comments include:

- Terry Dwelle, M.D., M.P.H.T.M., state health officer
- Nicholas Neumann, M.D., University of North Dakota's Department of Community Medicine
- Tom Ferraro, chief marketing officer, Mayo Clinic Tobacco Quitline

For more information about the news conference, contact Kathleen Mangskau, director of the Division of Tobacco Control and Prevention at 701.328.4517.
